

AS YOGI BERRA SAID

Open your eyes
(And) see the smile on my face
(The) tears on my cheek
(The) laughter that bubbles
In my heart when you speak

I remember first meeting
'Cross the room
How you moved me
And the smell of your voice sweet
I refusing
Your Dutch Treat

And the world did grayly fade way
Two dimensions 'gainst your three
In color you did so blossom

Voiceless secrets in the dark
My throat ached to
Utter words that were oh so long forgotten

Lonely
Always

Be mine
Only

Now that we're old
The winter of our life
But it's OK
It feels like we
Met only yesterday

There's so much more I must know
Can we talk
Until the Sun's glow

Just like Yogi Berra said
Our whole future
Is just ahead

If you laugh at
My bad jokes
I will hold your hand
In movies when you
Break down and cry

When you ask
If you're still pretty
I will hug you long and hard
And you'll know it's not a lie

You can Depend
Until
The end
